KANGAROO AT THE CINCINNATI GOLF SHOW

Two members of the Kangaroo sales team, Hampton Hodge and Mike Whitt, traveled to The Queen City in January for the annual Cincinnati Golf Show. Despite cold temperatures, thousands of golfers trekked to Duke Energy Convention Center and got an up-close look at Kangaroo's X-Series motorcaddies.

Hampton and Mike visited several golf courses. Of particular interest was Miami View Golf Club in suburban Cleves, Ohio. Kangaroo motorcaddies are used by members and stored in a nicely heated "cart barn" located just off the first tee. Head golf professional John Gauthier was effusive in his praise for Kangaroo's quality and great customer service.

Meet Hampton Hodge

Hampton joined the Kangaroo Golf Team in February 2014. He works in supply chain management and plays a key role in customer service and sales. He graduated with a degree in finance from Wofford College in Spartanburg, South Carolina. He grew up playing many sports; basketball, football, soccer and golf. He achieved his first hole-in-one at the age of 14! He became an avid golfer through high school and college, playing at Country Club of Spartanburg. He is currently a member of Tryon Country Club.

Caddie Consignment Program

Unfortunately, some owners are in a situation where they can no longer use their Kangaroo motorcaddies. If you need help finding an eager purchaser of your used Hillcrest*, the Kangaroo factory is available to sell it with our Caddie Consignment Program.

Since each used motorcaddie is different, it must be inspected at the factory first, and remain at Kangaroo's warehouse until it's sold. Owners are responsible for shipping costs to the North Carolina factory, and agree to take back their merchandise if it doesn't sell for the agreed-on minimum price.

To learn more, contact Mike Whitt (e-mail MikeWhitt@KangarooGolf.com).
Call him toll-free at 800.438.3011 extension 228, Monday thru Friday 8-5 Eastern Time.

*Kangaroo's factory is accepting only the popular Hillcrest AB, ABX, and Max models for consignments.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Owner's Club News,

I just wanted you to know I'm very pleased with my Kangaroo.

For years I've wanted to get back to walking the course but a knee replacement a few years ago and the extreme slopes of our course relegated me to either walking with a Sunday bag and few clubs or riding; golf was ok but not my ideal. The Kangaroo has given me a whole new golf perspective and walking enjoyment.

My decision to purchase a Kangaroo was delayed some by my penchant for due diligence in making any significant outlay more than a few hundred $$; I don't like regrets or second guessing a purchase. The choice was between the Kangaroo and a less expensive offshore produced product, (actually 2 similar models). Neither product offered a stabilizing slope wheel which, from experience in trying them, I believed was important. The only alternative for either of them would have been to buy their remote version, equipped with the wheel at a cost of about $800.

The price was tempting but I began to realize that with about 8-9 rounds per month and a cost of $10-15 each time for a riding cart, my break-even point for those models was about 9-10 months of using the power caddy. I compared that with my break-even for the Kangaroo at about 18 months. The big difference: Other versions' warranty would expire 2 months beyond break-even, Kangaroo's warranty would continue another 42 months! If my outlay of monthly cost was to be about the same, I'd much rather enjoy the better engineering and stability of the 'roo, hands down.

Bottom line is I'm glad, as usual, that I did my homework. The Kangaroo has, so far, lived up to my expectations.

The Golf Trick

An avid golfer couldn't help challenging his boastful son to a game of golf. The father was in for quite a surprise when, on the first swing, his son got a hole in one. "OK," the quick-thinking father said to his son, "now I will take my practice shot, then we will start."
